Honest Medicines Versus Fakes.

President Taft's recent message suggesting an amendment to the Pure Food and Drugs law in its relation to Prepared Medicines, does not refer to such standard medicines as Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and Foley Kidney Pills, both of which are true medicines carefully compounded of ingredients whose medicinal qualities are recognized by the medical profession itself as the best known remedial agents for the diseases they are intended to counteract. For over three decades Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been a standard remedy for coughs, colds and affections of the throat, chest and lungs for children and for grown persons, and it retains today its preeminence above all other preparations of its kind. Foley's Kidney Pills are equally effective and meritorious. For Sale by All Druggists.

Special Trains Follow One Another from London.

Duke of Connaught Bids the Visitors Good-By on Behalf of King—Foreign Warships Go.

London, June 29.—The heirs to most of the thrones of Europe, the princes and princesses, and special ambassadors who have been royal guests during the coronation festivities, have said farewell to King George and Queen Mary, and the greater number have already left London. Throughout the day special trains bound for the coast followed one another. The Duke of Connaught attended each departure on behalf of the king, while the regular embassies were present to say good-bye to the envoys of their respective nations. The great coronation fleet at Spithead also dispersed, the foreign warships saluting the flags of Great Britain and the commander in chief as they passed out.

BISCUITS IN A JIFFY

Wheat from Field Becomes Pastry in Thirty Minutes.

Beloit, Kan., June 29.—What is thought to be the world's time record in harvesting, threshing, milling and making into bread, was made with wheat from the W. S. Cable farm, two miles west of town. The time consumed in doing this was exactly thirty minutes. At 14 minutes after 3 the team started into the field with the header and one minute later the harvested wheat was in the threshing machine. At 23 minutes past 3 Mr. Cable drove his touring car up to the mill door and at 3:29 bread had been made from the wheat by the regular process employed by the Beloit Milling company. At 3:30 the flour was delivered at Walker Bros. bakery and their baker made biscuits that were taken from the oven at 3:34, just 30 minutes from the time the header went into the wheat field.

Amsterdam, Netherlands, June 30.—The striking dockhands terrorized the quayside, beating nonunionists. Troops saved the police from being thrown into sea.

Senator Cummins Presents Reciprocity Amendments.

BORAH ALSO IN OPPOSITION

Census Committee Reports Favorably Bill to Redistrict Country and Provide for House of 433 Members.

Washington, June 29.—For about four hours the senate considered Canadian reciprocity and then adjourned. Senator Cummins of Iowa, and Senator Borah of Idaho, were the speakers. Both opposed the reciprocity bill.

In general the Cummins amendments provide additions to the free list of the United States of practically all the manufactured products arising from the raw material furnished by the farm, including meats, flours and cereals, prepared vegetables, prepared meats, maple sugar and sirup and fruit juices.

In addition Senator Cummins proposed the free admission from Canada to the United States of coal of all kinds and logs and timber, which he declared to be the only concessions demanded by him from Canada. The amendments then provide also for the free admission from Canada of agricultural implements, portable and traction engines and boilers, automobiles, iron and steel products and ores, cutlery, clocks and watches, leather and its manufactured products, and woolen, cotton and silk threads and clothes, provided that Canada shall not maintain export duties or license fees upon the exports of all the articles enumerated in the bill, including wood pulp and print paper and coal and timber and logs, and also provided the president is equally satisfied that transportation rates upon imports from Canada are not unreasonably low as compared with United States products going the other way.

Senator Borah declared that the Republicans who are supporting the bill had completely changed front on the question and taken the Democratic view. He read from the Republican platform and from text books in the campaign handbooks declarations to prove what he had asserted.

Senator McLean of Connecticut, proposed an amendment to the federal constitution by a resolution which he introduced giving the United States power to legislate for the protection of the migratory birds.

The census committee, of which Senator LaFollette is chairman, considered the bill authorizing a reapportionment of the country for representatives in congress on the basis of population shown by the last census. The committee voted seven to three to report the bill favorably in the form it came from the house, which provided for a house of representatives to consist of 433 members and which would reduce the representation of none of the states of the Union. Senator LaFollette asked for a week in which to file a minority report. Senators DuPont and McLean voted with LaFollette against reporting the bill favorably.

MORE JOIN SEAMEN'S STRIKE

Ranks of Disaffected Largely Increased in All English Ports.

London, June 29.—The ranks of the striking seamen and dockers increased in almost every large port in England. While it seemed that the trouble had ended at Liverpool for all of the big companies, the crew of the Empress coal porter of the dockers' claims to meet. They admitted that they were satisfied themselves, but said that the dockers had stood by them and they would stand by the dockers.

They marched to all the northern docks and within an hour had secured the adhesion of crews of ships of the entire north Atlantic trade. Soon 2,000 coal porters of the Cunard line joined them and the procession spread until more than 10,000 men were in line. The next recruits were the carmen, who have no grievance themselves, but support the dockers. The dockers are not fighting for an increase of wages, but for recognition of the union.

EDWARD HINES ON THE STAND

Chicago Man Tells of His Efforts to Elect Lorimer.

PRESIDENT'S NAME BROUGHT IN

Governor Deneen Is Also Mentioned—Lumberman Denies Saying He Had "All Money Necessary" to Put His Man Over.

Washington, June 30.—The senate committee which is investigating charges of corruption in Senator Lorimer's election was told by Edward Hines of Chicago, president of the Edward Hines Lumber company, that President Taft, through Nelson W. Aldrich, former senator from Rhode Island, had favored Mr. Lorimer's candidacy and had practically forced the election upon Lorimer.

At first, Mr. Hines testified, President Taft and Senator Aldrich were merely in favor of breaking the senatorial deadlock in the Illinois legislature for five months from January to May, 1909, by the election of a Republican senator. Later, he added, the president and Senator Aldrich must have obtained information that Lorimer was the only candidate upon whom the opposition could unite and then they backed Senator Lorimer's candidacy.

In reply to a question, Mr. Hines admitted that he had never seen President Taft personally, but that all his information in regard to the president's attitude had come from Senator Aldrich, who went to the White House late one night in May, 1909, shortly before the senatorial election, to discuss the Illinois situation with Mr. Taft. The president himself has denied emphatically that he ever favored the election of Lorimer. He has said that efforts were made to draw him into the Illinois fight, but he had not gone further than to express the desire that a Republican be chosen.

Senator Aldrich promised to go on the stand and answer Hines. It is charged that the unauthorized use of the president's name was a political trick of the Lorimer forces to ensure Lorimer's election.

"Senator Aldrich," said Mr. Hines, "told me that the president was anxious to have the deadlock in the Illinois legislature settled and a Republican elected. Senator Aldrich asked me to telephone Mr. Lorimer, who was at Springfield and use my influence to persuade him to become a candidate for senator. I did so."

Mr. Hines said he went to Chicago and from a bank there called up Mr. Lorimer at Springfield again. At this conversation Mr. Lorimer asked him to call up Governor Deneen and explain to him President Taft's attitude. About this time, Mr. Hines testified, he received a telegram from his office that Wirt H. Cook of Duluth, and William O'Brien of St. Paul, wished to see him at the Grand Pacific hotel.

Mr. Hines instructed the telephone girl at his office to call Mr. Lorimer on a long distance at Springfield. Hines went to the Grand Pacific and talked with Mr. Lorimer from Cook's room. Hines said he told Lorimer that he had just had a phone conversation with Governor Deneen and that the governor had promised to assist him. Mr. Hines told Lorimer he would come to Springfield if necessary to aid his candidacy. This is the telephone conversation in which, according to Mr. Cook's recent testimony, Hines said that he would go to Springfield with all the money required to elect Lorimer. Hines denied Cook's version of the telephone conversation.

PRESIDENT MAKES DENIAL

Declaration by Mr. Hines Concerning Him Branded as Unfounded.

Washington, June 30.—The following statement was issued from the White House: "The fact with reference to the president's relation to Senator Lorimer's election is this:

"That during the tariff fight, gentlemen came to him and expressed their interest in passing the tariff bill; and said that it had been suggested from Illinois that it would be wise for the president to express an opinion in favor of the election of Mr. Lorimer. He did not know Mr. Lorimer well, although he knew that he was an influential member of congress, but he did know Senator Hines. He knew very little about Illinois politics, but expressed a desire that there should be two Republican senators from Illinois, but when asked to put that into form of a telegram during the election of Mr. Lorimer he declined to do so. The statement by Mr. Hines that the president was anxious for and was urging the election of Mr. Lorimer is wholly unfounded."

LABOR LEADERS IN CONFERENCE

GOMPERS ON CONTEMPT CASE

Says that Justice Wright, in Appointing Committee of Attorneys to Investigate Bucks Matter Shows Vindictiveness.

Indianapolis, June 29.—Leaders of the American Federation of Labor and trade unions are gathering in Indianapolis for a conference. The conference is to decide on a plan for raising money for the defense of John J. McNamara and James B. McNamara, who are charged with complicity in dynamite outrages at Los Angeles.

Samuel Gompers, president of the A. F. and L., arrived from Washington, accompanied by Frank Morrison, secretary of the A. F. and L., and Thomas F. Tracy and G. P. Foster, of the executive council of the federation.

Mr. Gompers refused to discuss the McNamara case, or the means that may be adopted to raise the defense fund. He talked freely on the contempt case at Washington, directed against himself, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison. Referring to the action of Justice Wright, of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, in appointing a committee of attorneys to investigate the action of the labor leaders in the Bucks Stove company case and the finding of the committee against the labor men, Gompers said the whole proceeding showed a spirit of "personal vindictiveness on the part of Justice Wright."

"Any judge with a decent regard for fairness and impartiality would have allowed the case to remain in the position in which the supreme court of the United States placed it after it had been reversed," said Gompers.

"Justice Wright, in pursuing this matter, was displaying his personal spleen. He had previously exhibited it when he rendered his decision which later was reversed. He spent two hours and a half in exonerating Mitchell, Morrison and myself, denouncing us as though we were footpads, housebreakers or highwaymen."

MODERN METHODS IN AN ODD TEST

Order Delivered to Passenger on Outgoing Steamer.

WIRELESS AND AVIATION FEAT

Burpee Sends for Small Articles, Which Are Delivered to Him by Airship Before the Olympic Gets Out to Sea.

New York, June 29.—The only modern feature overlooked in the transaction was the presence of a submarine for emergency rescue purposes, for the order came by wireless, was delivered by automobile and aeroplane after arrangements made by telephone.

Such was the scenario of a quickly arranged demonstration of modern practical applications of modern science when W. Atlee Burpee, the millionaire seedsmen of Philadelphia, undertook to play a little joke on his friends in John Wanamaker's store by sending them an order by wireless from the Olympic after she had sailed.

Mr. Burpee had been amused by the recent installation of a wireless apparatus on the roof of Wanamaker's. The Olympic had hardly swung out into the Hudson river when he flashed an order to Wanamaker's for some small articles of personal wear and use, with the request for immediate delivery.

There was just one way to turn the joke back on the seedsmen which was to take it seriously. Messengers and telephone girls were hurried into action by the score.

In five minutes Wanamaker's had Aviator Sopwith on the telephone at Nassau boulevard and had closed a contract with him to deliver a package by aeroplane to the deck of the Olympic.

One of the light delivery automobiles of the store equipment was cranked up, while a professional chauffeur dashed through the store and collected the articles called for by Mr. Burpee and ran with them to the automobile, which was dispatched in a mighty hurry to Nassau boulevard to the aero club's hangars with a package containing Mr. Burpee's order.

Tom Sopwith and Richard Sinclair, a passenger he had invited to go along and verify the delivery "in case Mr. Burpee should dispute it," waited for the package.

The aeroplane sailed out into the air over Nassau boulevard. From this point on the story is told by Mr. Sopwith in his own words:

"We had a little motor trouble at the start, but nothing serious. I was afraid we were late, but when I caught the line of the bay ahead of us and worked along the edge of the narrows, there was the big ship just coming down between Fort Wadsworth and Fort Hamilton. I went right out over her and headed for her when she was squarely between the forts. We were about 800 feet above her. I swooped down until when we crossed her decks we were about 200 feet above the deck. Then I dropped the package. Sinclair let go a bunch of letters.

"Exciting incident?" No. Just business; that's all. Got an order; filled it. Had good luck and delivered the goods. Next."
